

The Astropoetic School of Soul-Discovery

News From The Astropoetic School

10 November 2010

Greetings from The Astropoetic School of Soul Discovery located in the heart of the galaxy on Milky Way Farm here in the beautiful Ozarks.

It has been awhile since I've communicated with you, but at some time in the last few years, you have requested to be kept informed of my astrological doings - either after your participation in my correspondence course, or a reading, or a lecture, workshop, conference, book signing or other event. Or you may just be an old friend wanting to stay in touch. However we were originally connected, if you no longer wish to be, just let me know. I won't bother you again.

For those of you who are still interested, there is a lot to share. My immediate reason for writing is to let you know about my new blogs. Over the past two years, my partner Sara has been helping me to convert my own web sites into blog format, and now I've got 3:

The Astropoetic School: www.astropoetics.com - in which I share news about the school, as well as blog series on topics of interest to astrologers and astrology students. My new 7-part series of posts on Healing the Astrological Shadow, originally published as an article in the June/July 2010 issue of The Mountain Astrologer begins today.

The Sky Is My Mirror: www.theskyismymirror.com - in which I share my personal experiences using astropoetics (my intimately personal image-oriented approach to astrology) for my own personal growth. This site has been less active lately as I focus on getting out my new book (more below), but there is an excellent series of posts on the site now discussing Mars-Pluto transits in relationship to sacred activism, dealing with conflict and violence, and finding compassion for one's enemies and adversaries.

Ancient Tower Press: www.ancient-tower-press.com - in which I share my publishing company news, as well as occasional articles about topics of interest to self-published authors and independent presses. Right now the big news is my new book: Astrology and the Archetypal Power of Numbers, Part One, in which I explore a more visceral and qualitative dimension of number as it weaves through the warp and woof of Western culture. The book is in the final layout stages now, and I will send an additional email when it is ready for purchase. In the meantime, you can read the introduction on this blog.

In addition to my blogs and my new book, I wanted to let you know that I have completely revised the first two years of the Basic Course at The Astropoetic School to include new material from my books about a specifically astropoetic approach to astrology, available nowhere else, as well as many new examples from my own life, student files, and famous people who have changed the world. Those of you who have studied with me before will find much within the course to stimulate new astrological insight, while those who have not yet studied with me will find an in-depth approach to self-understanding with close personal guidance. You can read more about the course on my astropoetics blog - www.astropoetics.com.

I also have a more advanced course, based on my book Tracking the Soul With an Astrology of Consciousness, in which I will help you discover a personal astrological signature for each of the seven chakras and track your evolution through the chakras across a lifetime of experience.

I currently have openings for 9 students. Please let me know if you are interested.

Lastly, with Sara's encouragement, I have also joined the world of social networking, and anyone who is interested can now connect with me on Facebook or Linked In.

I look forward to hearing from you. Feedback is always welcome, and it is your ongoing participation in and support of my work that makes it all mean something.

Look for the Leonid meteor shower later this month (November 13-21) in the eastern sky before dawn. And I will look for you in my email box.

Be well,

Joe Landwehr

The Astropoetic School of Soul-Discovery

Where Your Life is the Classroom

www.astropoetics.com

The Sky is My Mirror

The Astropoetic Life and Times of Joe Landwehr

www.theskyismymirror.com

Ancient Tower Press

Celebrating the Sacred Mysteries

www.ancient-tower-press.com